FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Twelve Morehead State University faculty members will share more than $40,400 in institutional research grants with the awards ranging from $500 to $5,000.

The awards, granted on the basis of research proposals submitted for fall semester funding, were announced by Dr. Stephen S. Taylor, MSU vice president for academic affairs.

"Each semester proposals for research and creative productions are solicited as well as for summer research fellowships," Dr. Taylor said. "These grants are one way that MSU not only can recognize the faculty for its research efforts but also encourage others to follow suit."

Designed to stimulate research and creativity among the faculty, the awards have been given annually since 1968-69. In selecting proposals for funding, the emphasis is on those which not only broaden the researcher's own horizon, but on what the study will add to the current pool of knowledge as well.

"Applied research is a vital part of the University's mission," said MSU President C. Nelson Grote. "Over the years, our faculty members consistently have demonstrated their commitment to the ideals of applied research. Their efforts in this arena of professional development also enhance the quality of their students' education," he added.

Recipients of MSU Research Grants included:

Dr. Bill Batsel, associate professor of psychology, $4,222 for a project entitled "Co-morbidity of Alcoholism and Depression: Literature Review and Pilot Study."

Fred M. Busroe, associate professor of biology, $513 for a project entitled "Survey of the Avian Species Inhabitating the Rowan County Sphagnum Swamp."

Dr. Stephen K. Fox, assistant professor of psychology, $3,370 for a project entitled "Impact of Information and Goal Setting on Algorithmic/Heuristic Tasks Performance."

Dennis Karwatka, associate professor of industrial education, $4,502 for a project entitled "History of Technology."

Dr. Karl Kunkel, assistant professor of sociology, $2,000 for a project entitled "Organizational Ecology as an Approach to Corporate Crime."

Dr. David Magrane, professor of biology, $5,000 for a project entitled "Effect of Exercise and Caloric Restriction on DMBA Induced Mammary Tumorigenesis in Rats Fed High Fat Diets."

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, professor of psychology, $4,938 for a project entitled "Mesolimbic Dopamine and Behavioral Sensitization."

Dr. Frank Osborne, professor of psychology, $1,704 for a project entitled "Formal Reasoning and PSI."

Dr. Ted Pass, professor of biology, $4,975 for a project entitled "Potential Bacteriologic and Endotoxin Hazards Associated With Liquid Bicarbonate Concentrate: An Evaluation of Media Utilized in the Isolation, Quantitation and Identification of Microbial Contaminants in a Hemodialysis Center."

Dr. Ed Reeves, associate professor of sociology, $500 for a project entitled "The Durkheimian Theory of Ritual: A Proposal to Develop a Cross-Cultural Data Base for Hypothesis."

Dr. David Saxon, professor of biology, $5,000 for a project entitled "Hypercholesterolemia and Adenosine Diphosphate-Inducted Platelet Aggregation."

Michael Seelig, associate professor of social work, $3,679 for a project entitled "A Comparative Study of the Child Welfare Systems in Shewa Province, Ethiopia."

The University's Research and Patent Committee is charged with the responsibility of reviewing the proposals and making funding recommendations to the vice president for academic affairs. Chair of the committee is Carole Morella, director of the Office of Research, Grants and Contracts.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's two-year degree program in radiologic technology has received continued accreditation for the maximum period allowed by the national accrediting agency.

In addition to a five-year accreditation reaffirmation, the Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology also approved increasing the number of students in the program from 96 to 110, enabling the University to accept 55 students each year into the program.

"Morehead State has several programs which have been recognized by the appropriate accrediting bodies as exceptional," MSU President C. Nelson Grote said.

"We are exceedingly proud of the University's reputation in the nursing and allied health science fields, because these programs directly touch lives. Their quality results in enhancement of the health care available, primarily in our service region," the president said.

Nationally as well as regionally, there is a shortage of qualified radiologic technologists, according to Dr. Charles M. Derrickson, dean of MSU's College of Applied Sciences and Technology. "Graduating not only more, but also highly skilled, health care professionals is the key to altering these statistics," he said.

"In essence, the Joint Review Committee has said we are doing a good job and that we can increase the number of students without affecting that quality," the dean added. "The faculty should be proud of this recognition because they have worked diligently to maintain a quality program."

Established in 1973, MSU's Radiologic Technology program is a 24-month long curriculum in which students spend half their time in the classroom and the remainder gaining hands-on experience at three different hospital affiliates.

According to Rae Smith, coordinator of the MSU program, the University has 11 clinical education sites in Eastern Kentucky which have been approved by the joint committee.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two Floyd County brothers currently enrolled at Morehead State University are preparing themselves for success with every intention of leaving their mark on the world.

Steven and Jeff Hughes, alumni of Allen Central High School, will graduate from MSU in December 1990 and May 1992 respectively.

The young men, both Dean's List students, came to Morehead State each for his own reasons.

"I came to MSU because I wanted to further my education and have the chance to meet different people," said Jeff, who is a sophomore workstudy student in the music library.

According to Steven, financial assistance in the form of a Regents Scholarship and Residence Hall Award played a major role in his selection of MSU over the University of Kentucky.

Although both are members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and have many similar interests, the Hughes brothers still have very different ideas of what they want to do with their lives.

"My goal is to take the Certified Public Accountant (CPA) exam the November prior to my graduation and join those MSU graduates who passed it on the first try," said Steven.

A second semester junior, he also plans to tackle the Real Estate Broker exam in order to have a side business.

Outside the classroom Steven enjoys basketball, swimming and football. Adding to his busy schedule are such activities as involvement in the Destination Graduation project as a tutor, serving as academic affairs director for his fraternity, membership in the Accounting Club and serving as a resident adviser in Waterfield Hall.

Jeff, who is studying to be a practicing psychologist, has another goal beyond that of a vocation. "My main goal is to leave my mark on the world," he said.

Active in his fraternity, Jeff's extracurricular activities also include fishing, hunting and drawing.

With grade point averages of 3.4 and 3.2 respectively, Steven and Jeff are no strangers to hard work. The young men, sons of Curtis Hughes of Martin and Brenda Bishop of Corbin, have some words of advice for those coming along behind them.

"To overcome the problems of life, all you have to be is the best that you can possibly be," is Steven's creed.

"All you have to do to make it, is just get your ducks in a row," is Jeff's philosophy.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Tuesday, Dec. 12, is the reservation deadline for Morehead State University's 1989 Christmas Dinner Party to be hosted by President and Mrs. C. Nelson Grote on Friday, Dec. 15, at Adron Doran University Center.

Reservations for the $12.50 per plate holiday dinner may be made with Anna Mae Riggle, dinner ticket chairman, by calling 783-2071. Reservations for parties of any size or individuals will be accepted through 4 p.m. on Dec. 12.

"A Christmas Visit" will be the theme for the event which begins with a social period at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m.

The dinner entree will be baked chicken in wine sauce and a special holiday dessert will end the meal. Special holiday entertainment and decorations are being planned by the dinner committee, headed by Harlen Hamm.

Faculty/staff members are encouraged to pick up their tickets in advance to avoid delays in entering the dining area.

"Our previous dinners have been very special occasions for fellowship with our friends," Dr. Grote said. "My wife and I hope that all of our friends, from the campus and the community, will join us as we launch this most joyous holiday season."

The evening's master of ceremonies will be Dr. John R. Duncan, professor of education.

Dec. 7, 1989

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Should private citizens have access to firearms? In a series of reports beginning Monday, Dec. 11, National Public Radio will examine in depth one of the most intractable and enduring debates facing American society today.

The 18-part series--"Firearms: A Deadly American Love Affair"--will air throughout the week on NPR's award-winning newsmagazines: Morning Edition, All Things Considered and Weekend Edition.

The newsmagazines are part of the regular programming aired by WMKY-FM 90.3, public radio from Morehead State University's campus. Morning Edition airs Monday through Friday from 6 to 9 a.m., All Things Considered airs daily at 5 p.m. and Weekend Edition may be heard from 8 to 10 a.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Objective and indepth reporting is necessary to inform public opinion and provide a clear understanding of this issue, according to William Buzenberg, NPR News executive director.

"A dozen NPR reporters have spent the last several months examining the role of firearms in American society. The result is an important series of stories on the consequences of this nation's attitudes towards guns," Buzenberg said.

Throughout the week, NPR correspondents will cover a variety of topics and talk with key people in the gun control/laws debate. Reports on Morning Edition will focus on the National Rifle Association, on marketing efforts of gun manufacturers and on gun-related suicides. Gun control advocate Sarah Brady, whose husband was paralyzed in the attempted assassination of former President Reagan, and James Leatherwood, the creater of the MAC-10 assault rifle will be interviewed.

All Things Considered will air interviews with a father who is teaching his son the responsibilities of gun ownership, as well as with members of an Arizona assault weapon community. The evening news magazine also will explore the "right to bear arms" as set forth in the Constitution.

Weekend Edition on Sunday, Dec. 17, will compare two cities, Seattle and Vancouver, to measure the impact of a handgun ban which Vancouver has and Seattle does not have.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A pioneer in the field of rural medicine, Dr. Louise Gilman Hutchins of Berea will receive the honorary Doctor of Science degree from Morehead State University at the school's 1989 Winter Commencement on Saturday, Dec. 16.

MSU President C. Nelson Grote will present the degree during the ceremonies slated for 1:30 p.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center. More than 300 undergraduate and graduate students are candidates for degrees which will be conferred by Dr. Grote.

Dr. Hutchins, who was born in China in 1911 to Episcopal missionary parents, has received numerous national and international awards for her lifelong efforts to combat infant mortality and protect the health of mothers in Kentucky. A two-time recipient of the Margaret Sanger Award, she holds honorary doctorates from Transylvania University and Berea College where she was student health doctor from 1941 to 1967.

A graduate of Wellesley College, Dr. Hutchins returned to China after earning her M.D. degree in 1936 from Yale University School of Medicine and practiced there until the onset of World War II.

She and her late husband, Dr. Francis Hutchins, relocated to Berea where he became president of Berea College and she reentered medical practice. For 25 years she volunteered her services in pediatrics at Berea College Hospital, while also promoting family planning throughout Eastern Kentucky.

The Hutchins spent 1967 to 1970 in Hong Kong, where she devoted her energies to maternal health programs, but did not visit mainland China again until 1978. Dr. Hutchins still maintains her medical practice in Berea and continues her family planning mission through the Mountain Maternal Health League in Eastern Kentucky.

"We believe it is most appropriate to honor this extraordinary woman who has dedicated so much of her life to improve the quality of life for others in this region," said Dr. Grote. "By her professional prominence, her exemplary personal character and her commitment to education, she has distinguished herself as well as Kentucky," he added.

College of Applied Sciences and Technology senior Ralph W. Bailey of Winchester will be the student speaker. Graduating with honors, he will receive a B.S. degree in industrial technology.

Bailey, manufacturing foreman in charge of assembly operations and housing fabrication at Rockwell International Corporation, took classes over a 12-year period while employed full-time at Rockwell. Currently on special assignment to the plant manager, he earned his associate degree in 1987.

Born in Estill County, Bailey graduated from George Rogers Clark High School and began working at Rockwell in 1967. He served two years in the Army, returned to the company and was named to his first supervisory position in 1978. He and his wife, the former Judy Chism of Winchester, are the parents of two daughters, Brandy and Noelle. He is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Brown of Winchester.

Once the degrees are awarded, the new alumni will be inducted into the MSU Alumni Association by its president, Lisa Browning.

Dr. Diane Ris, professor of education and this year's Distinguished Faculty Award recipient, will serve as grand marshal, assisted by Dr. Gerald DeMoss, chair of the Department of Biological and Environmental Sciences, and Alex Conyers, associate professor of finance.

Student marshals will be Kelley Robinson of Morehead and Michael Hardin of Clearfield, representing Graduate and Extended Campus Programs; Katherine L. Thompson, Wilmore senior, and Lavonna Howard, Jackson junior, College of Applied Sciences and Technology; Halisha Davis, Morehead junior, and Brent A. Ables, Columbus, Ind., senior, College of Professional Studies, and Mary Creighton, Lexington junior and Trent DeMoss, Morehead senior, College of Arts and Sciences.

Following commencement Dr. and Mrs. Grote will host a reception honoring the new graduates and their families and sponsored by the Alumni Association.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Inscape, Morehead State University's literary/arts magazine, has announced the winners of its Fall 1989 competition.

First and second prizes of $50 and $25 respectively were awarded at MSU's Fall Fine Arts Showcase where the student art works were presented and student writers read their poetry and fiction.

The competition drew 31 art submissions, 17 stories and 129 poems from which 10 art pieces, 26 poems and 4 stories were selected as finalists, according to Beth Cooley, assistant professor of English and Inscape faculty adviser.

First place in art went to Floyd Bolander, Garrison freshman, for his photograph, "Route 10." Second place went to Jennifer Hart, Olive Hill junior, for her collage "Dragon's Teeth."

In poetry, first place went to Chris Harbaugh, Morehead junior, for "Storm Warning," and second place went to Karen Craigo, Gallipolis, Ohio, junior, for "Fog." Honorable mention went to Eric Cash, Morehead graduate, for "Years After Her Death" and to George Barnette, Louisville junior, for "Babies."

Fiction awards went to Joan Altman, Jasper, Ind., senior, who won first place for her short story "Sol y Sombra," and second place to Steve Inskeep, Carmel, Ind., senior, for his story "Freeway to Somewhere."

Judges for the student competition were Nanci Erskine of Morehead, art; Jill McCorkle of Chapel Hill, N.C., fiction, and Paul Lindholdt of Bellingham, Wash., poetry.

Prize awards were made possible by the Department of Art, MSU Honors Program and the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy.

The award-winning works along with other student pieces will appear in the Spring 1990 volume of Inscape. The fall 1989 volume is currently available at the University Store for $1.

All MSU students are encouraged to submit works to the Inscape competition, held each fall and spring. Deadlines for the next contest will be announced in the spring semester.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Morehead-Rowan County area and Morehead State University will be in the spotlight when WSAZ television 3 visits the area the week of Dec. 11 as part of its "Celebrate" series.

The station will "Celebrate Rowan County," airing special news reports and features of interest about the region and its people, with two newscasts originating from Morehead State's campus.

In addition to stories on newscasts and "PM Magazine" segments, the station's weekly public affairs program "At Issue," scheduled to air at 11 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 17, will be devoted to issues from the area. That same Sunday's "TV Chapel" will feature a Rowan County congregation. It airs at 6 a.m.

The popular children's show, "Mr. Cartoon," will be taped at the Carl C. Perkins Community Center at 4 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 14, for broadcast at 7 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 16.

Capping the weeklong series, WSAZ-TV's NewsCenter 3 will broadcast its midday (11:30 a.m.) and 6 p.m. news programs on Friday, Dec. 15, live from MSU's Adron Doran University Center.

Co-anchors Jeff Atkinson and Randy Yohe along with weatherman Jule Huffman will be on hand for the Midday News which is scheduled to air from the Crager Room, ADUC, as final preparations for the University's Christmas Dinner Party are under way.

At 6 p.m., the locale will move outside the Crager Room to the third floor lobby area with Huntington news anchor Bob Smith and contributing reporter Randy Yohe for the newscast. Meteorologist Tony Cavalier will update weather conditions from outside the Center.

"Rowan County and its people are important to us," said WSAZ General Manager Don Ray. "We are delighted to have this opportunity to share some of the exciting things that are happening in the region and at Morehead State with our two million viewers," he added.

Dec. 15, 1989
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---WMKY-FM 90.3, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, has appointed three new professional staff members.

They are John B. Back of Flemingsburg, news and public affairs director; Paul W. Hitchcock of Morehead, music and arts director, and Ronald W. Mace of Radcliff, promotion and development director.

"These new additions to WMKY's staff bring varied backgrounds to the region," said Larry Netherton, general manager of WMKY. "Their experiences and special strengths will enable us to enhance our programming to better serve our listeners," he added.

A 20-year veteran of radio/television, Back earned his baccalaureate degree from MSU in 1988 and is currently working on a graduate degree. A native of Searcy, Ark., Back has worked in broadcasting at various stations in the region, including WTCR Radio.

"I enjoy finding out why things happen," said Back, adding that his natural curiosity would be an asset in his new position. He and his wife, the former Judith Carr of Flat Gap, are the parents of a son Jeremiah.

Hitchcock holds a B.A. degree in communications from Georgetown (Ky.) College and his master's degree from Morehead State, where he taught during the 1988-89 academic year. The New York state native came to the region from Clinton, Tenn., where he had been employed in commercial radio in Oak Ridge.

"I am committed to making WMKY the centerpoint for entertainment in Northeastern Kentucky with a wide variety of music and an emphasis on the arts and regional theatre," Hitchcock said.

Mace, who has spent the past five years working in commercial radio and television in Lexington, also was coordinator of broadcasting for Fugazzi College. He earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Morehead State and has returned to the Morehead community with his wife, the former Pamela Hammonds of Suddy, and daughter Katie.

"I hope to bring a new dimension to the marketing of WMKY," Mace said, adding that he was planning several new promotions that WMKY listeners would find exciting.

Dec. 19, 1989
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Speaking at Morehead State University's 1989 Winter Commencement, MSU President C. Nelson Grote predicted that higher education's needs would not be overlooked by either the governor nor the legislature when the General Assembly convenes in January.

Noting that while the legislative spotlight would be on elementary and secondary education, Dr. Grote said:

"It would not make sense to build the first 12 links of the educational chain that will pull the commonwealth into the 21st Century and have the last four links of the 16 in place be weak and ineffective."

Despite a winter storm the day before that left many Eastern Kentucky roads unsafe for travel, more than 1,700 people turned out Saturday (Dec. 16) for the University's commencement which was held in the Academic-Athletic Center. About 75 percent of the more than 300 undergraduate and graduate degree candidates were present.

Unable to attend due to poor road conditions was the honorary degree recipient, Dr. Louise Gilman Hutchins of Berea. Her honorary Doctor of Science degree will be conferred at a later date, according to University officials.

In addition, Dr. Grote announced that those degree recipients unable to be present because of the weather would be permitted to participate in the spring commencement program if they made arrangements with the registrar.

(MORE)

Representing the graduating class, student speaker Ralph W. Bailey of Winchester challenged his classmates to "go forward, continue to learn and grow, hold your heads a little higher, reach a little further for your goals and hopes of the future."

The 40-year-old Rockwell International Corporation foreman received the B.S. degree in industrial technology, after 12 years as a part-time student and full-time employee.

He offered congratulations to other graduates like himself and others still in quest of their goal, the "non-traditional" students who have family responsibilities, full-time jobs and are trying to "squeeze in a few hours per week to continue our education."

An honor graduate, Bailey and his wife, the former Judy Chism, are the parents of two daughters, Brandy and Noelle.

After degrees were conferred by President Grote, the graduates were inducted into the MSU Alumni Association by William H. Redwine, director of Alumni Relations.

The Alumni Association also sponsored a reception for graduates and their families which followed the program and was hosted by President and Mrs. Grote.

GRADUATES MEASURE OF MSU'S QUALITY

While other institutions measure their quality by setting high admission standards, Morehead State University measures its quality "as an institution of higher education based on the quality of our product--you, our graduates," MSU President C. Nelson Grote told the 1989 Winter candidates for graduation, their families and friends. Dr. Grote also expressed belief that the governor and 1990 general assembly would not overlook the needs of Kentucky's universities. Approximately 1,700 people, plus the 300 graduate and undergraduate degree candidates, gathered at the Academic-Athletic Center for commencement on Saturday, Dec. 16, despite frigid temperatures and poor road conditions.

SPECIAL TO THE MOREHEAD NEWS

MSU WINTER COMMENCEMENT: A Picture Story

While temperatures outside hovered in the teens, Morehead State University's Academic-Athletic Center was packed with warmth as families and friends of degree candidates gathered for the 1989 Winter Commencement program. Degrees were conferred on more than 300 undergraduate and graduate candidates by MSU President C. Nelson Grote before a crowd of approximately 1,700. More than half of the candidates present were the first in their family to graduate from college. Although not boxed, wrapped and sitting under a gaily decorated tree, those degrees to many families may have been the "best Christmas present ever." Student speaker Ralph W. Bailey of Winchester, a non-traditional student who received the B.S. degree in industrial technology, saluted those graduating like himself and others still in pursuit of their degree, while fulfilling family responsibilities and working full-time.

Cutlines:

- 1----One modern day graduation tradition is tape-applied messages or fraternity symbols on mortar boards. Here Annie White of Morehead lends a helping hand to William Dyer of Vanceburg. White received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree, while Dyer earned a Bachelor of Science degree.
- 2----Among the degree recipients was former Lady Eagle basketball standout Christie Beaver of Phelps, right, who completed an undergraduate degree in special education. Just a few minutes before the academic procession, she was found by the photographer assisting Andy Keller of Newburgh, Ind., with his mortar board. Keller received the B.B.A. degree.
- 3----Even faculty members need help sometimes with their academic robes. Thom Yancy, left, assistant professor of radio/television, adjusts the hood of Dr. Bradley Clough, professor of psychology.
- 4----"Go forward, continue to learn and grow, hold your heads a little higher, reach a little further for your goals and hopes of the future," was the challenge issued to his fellow graduates by the student speaker Ralph W. Bailey of Winchester.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's School of Business and Economics Small Business Development Center will continue its series of business related seminars by holding another "Pre-Business Orientation" seminar on Thursday, Jan. 7, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the Butler Hall Conference Room on MSU's campus.

This seminar is designed for individuals who are considering going into business, according to Ernest Begley II, general management consultant and director of the Morehead area center. Begley will conduct the seminar.

After a brief introduction and overview of the Kentucky Small Business Development Center program, what is a business will be defined and business failures analyzed. Also there will be discussion of legal structures for business ownership, how break even analysis can help, and some discussion on business loans.

There is a $5 pre-registration fee due before Jan. 3. Registrations may be mailed to Morehead State University's Small Business Development Center, Butler Hall #24, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. Additional information is available by calling Begley or Georgia Sammons at (606) 783-2077.

The Kentucky Small Business Development Center is partially funded by the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA). Special arrangements for the handicapped will be made if requested in advance.
